Lois Haslam Appointed Assistant Superintendent For Elementary Schools

By Susan Rand

Lois T. Haslam

Lois T. Haslam was named assistant superintendent for elementary education, a position she has held in an acting capacity since January, by a unanimous vote of the School Committee on Tuesday evening after four hours of interviews with three other candidates throughout the afternoon.

Haslam beat three out-of-town finalists for the post which will put her in charge of the four elementary schools and the new Early Childhood Center at the Shawsheen School.

She has been in the Andover public schools since 1973 when she was appointed principal of the Doherty Elementary School. A move in 1980 sent the Chelmsford resident to the principal's office at Bancroft. And in January she became the acting assistant superintendent for elementary education.

In view of the fact that Haslam has been an Andover school administrator for 11 years the School Committee voted to set her salary at $45,000, the top of the salary scale designated at the beginning of the assistants' search. Committee member Susan T. Poore passed on the salary vote with members Donald W. Robb, chairman of the committee; Richard W. Neal, Michael R. Giammusso and Robert F. Smith voting for the salary.

Haslam's appointment still leaves vacant the assistant superintendent for secondary education job, a post Richard McGrail has held in an acting capacity since December. He has returned to his position as principal of the Doherty Junior High School.

Charles Mitsakos was Andover's last permanent assistant superintendent. He left the job last December and was replaced by Haslam and McGrail. The two positions were approved as permanent jobs by the School Committee in late May.

The secondary job will be re-advertised and school board members hope to conduct interviews for the position in August, although Giammusso said he would rather wait until October, if necessary, to find a qualified person for the position.

Competing with Haslam for the elementary position was Joanne P. Newcombe, the principal of the Birch Hill School, in Nashua, New Hampshire, where she lives; Carol Wareing, a resident of Tewksbury and a member of the school committee there. Wareing served as the acting superintendent of schools last year in Plymouth; and also interviewed was Daniel Joseph Thompson Jr., of Holyoke, an internal evaluator in the public school system there. The three finalists not chosen have doctorate degrees. Haslam is working on her Ed.D. degree at the University of Lowell.

Interviews for the assistant position began at 4:10 p.m., in the School Committee meeting room and lasted through 7:40 p.m., when the committee went into an executive session after they asked Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert to make a recommendation to the board of his choice for the job. Seifert said he didn't want to make such a recommendation while members of the press were sitting in on the meeting.

There is some question as to whether the board should have discussed the four finalists in an executive session. Michael Lauranzano, a staff member in District Attorney Kevin M. Burke's office told THE TOWNSMAN that a discussion of the professional competence of the finalists belonged in an open, public session while only a discussion of their reputations or character was allowed in an executive session, the purpose of which must by law be announced before a board goes into a closed session.

"It's a close call but I think they should have done it in an open meeting," said Lauranzano.

No discussion of the qualifications of the other three finalists was held in the regular committee meeting, which was reopened at 8:10 p.m. Members did praise the job Haslam has done in the town's schools.

"Lois did emerge the candidate of my choice," said member Smith.

"She is a well-known quantity in the education system here (and) has made significant contributions to the system," added Robb.

At the open meeting Seifert recommended Haslam as his choice for the job. A motion was made to appoint her to the post by Giammusso with Neal seconding the motion.

Haslam's 40-minute interview in the afternoon featured questions on why she wanted the position, her ideas for evaluating school principals, education for the "average" student, and how she would feel working for either of the three other finalists if she were not chosen and went back to the principal's job at Bancroft.

The initial paring down of the 39 applicants for the position was done by a group who individually screened the interested candidates' resumes. They were school personnel, teachers and parents including Personnel Department staffers, Jack Coyle, Anetta Freedman, Terry Murphy, Richard McGrail and Seifert.

Next the Interview Committee, made up of Jack Coyle, Joseph Normandy, Gene Frulla, Cathy Costello, Mary Lou Shea, Diana Kolben, Charles Friel, Terry Cutting and June Blake, selected four finalists from a field of 12 candidates invited for interviews. Seifert also interviewed the four finalists separately before the School Committee interviews, which he sat in on.

The elementary assistant position was advertised in the Boston Globe, the Lowell Sun, the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune and with a university placement service. The re-advertising of the secondary assistant job will include listings in the same publications as well as at local colleges and universities, with the American School Administrators Association and other New England journals and newspapers, said Seifert.

OFFICES TO CLOSE

TOWNSMAN offices at 89 North Main St. will be closed tomorrow, Friday, July 13, from 10 a.m. to noon out of respect to the family of Carole A. Finneran, wife of Editor Robert E. Finneran. Please see obituary on page 28.

Ray Charles To Kick Off Collins Season

The J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts in Andover has announced a spectacular second season of music, theatre and dance beginning Sept. 23 with a gala show featuring Ray Charles, the Raelles and the Ray Charles Orchestra.

The second season will offer three Broadway shows, internationally-acclaimed musicians, full-scale opera, Shakespeare and an impressive series of dance companies, as well as a return of Tom Rush in an all-new show, country music and the Springfield Symphony Orchestra with Peter Serkin.

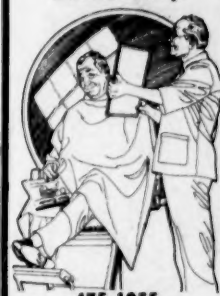

The Collins Center hosted thousands of patrons and sold out most of its shows during its first season as the premiere performance facility in New England. Extra attractions like Judy Collins and Alvin Ailey sold out to area theatre-goers, while Maria of Sesame Street entertained more than 2,000 youngsters for a special Valentine's Day event.

The 1984-85 season will present a line-up of 15 fabulous shows from original Broadway cast members in the Tony Award-winning musical "Ain't Misbehavin'" to a full-scale production, in English, of "The Barber of Seville."

Other events include Les Ballets Jazz de Montreal, a world-famous dance company, Shakespeare & Company's enchanting "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Paul Neubauer, internationally acclaimed violist, the National Touring Company of the smash Broadway musical, "Oliver!" the Boston Chamber Music Society featuring some of the country's most brilliant young musicians, The Portland String Quartet, James Barbagallo on piano, the Tony Award-winning Negro Ensemble Company's acclaimed production of "A Soldier's Play," a mystery masterpiece, and the delightfully different Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte

Playground Committee To Meet

Piercing together a geodome for kindergartners to play on will be the hard part of the first meeting of the Shawsheen Playground Committee, a group formed to renovate the outdoor play area at the former elementary school, which, as the town's Early Childhood Center, will be home to kindergarten and readiness classes this fall.

Families from around town are invited to the meeting, set for Wednesday, July 18. Family picnics will start at the playground, which is behind the school, located off Ann's Lane, at 6 p.m. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m., when participants will construct a geodome for outside play. Early Childhood Coordinator Linnea Gershenberg said the committee will plan the town's only playground for very young children.

Shuttle Location Changed

Due to the construction at the new town offices and at Central Park, the location of the Hampton Beach shuttle has been changed. The bus will now be stationed behind Doherty Junior High School by the playstead.

The Hampton Beach shuttle will continue to run every Tuesday and Thursday until August 16. The bus leaves from Doherty Junior High at 9 a.m. and returns at 4 p.m. The $5 fee per trip is collected before boarding the bus. A minimum of 30 people must be present before a bus will leave.

The addition of a second bus is at the discretion of the Department of Community Services and is directly related to demand and bus availability.

School Committee To Meet In August

After juggling their vacation schedules, members of the Andover School Committee have decided to meet next on Tuesday, August 7, at 7:30 p.m., in the School Committee conference room, in the school office building, Whittier Street.

An agenda for that meeting has not yet been set.

Playing Fields To Be Discussed

Discussion on the status of the town's playing fields will now include a member of the School Committee. The committee members voted on Tuesday evening to send Susan T. Poore to represent them in talks about the use of the fields.

A committee has not yet been formed to discuss the topic, as the school board had thought. But the condition of the playgrounds will be discussed at the next selectman's meeting, set for Monday, July 16, at 7:30 p.m., in the Town Hall, off Bartlet Street.

Red Cross Honors Ms. Lane

Kathleen Lane, V.R.N., of Andover, was named one of the American Red Cross Blood Services-Northeast Region's outstanding volunteers during the organization's annual meeting in June. She was only one of six volunteers throughout Massachusetts and Maine to be recognized.

Lane is a member of the Greater Lawrence Red Cross Chapter Board of Directors and has been an active Blood Services volunteer for 42 years. She attends numerous area blood drives and donated more than 250 hours last year to the Red Cross and the community it serves.

The Northeast Region is one of the largest of 57 Red Cross blood services nationwide, collecting more than 375,000 units of blood annually. Serving more than 50 hospitals in Massachusetts and Maine, the Northeast Region supplies all blood used by patients in local hospitals.

Timothy Wright

Attends Chemistry Camp

Timothy Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, Central Street, Andover, recently took part in a chemistry study camp at the Air Force Academy.

Wright was among 20 of the top high school chemistry students in the United States who competed at the camp for a spot on a four-person team which will take part in the International Chemistry Olympiad in Frankfurt, Germany, the first week in July. The American Chemical Society asked the academy to host the students and prepare the team, which is the first team from the United States to take part in the Olympiad.

The U.S. will be among 18 countries taking part in the international competition, including Hungary, Czechoslovakia, West Germany, Poland, Sweden, Austria, Russia and Norway.

The study camp participants were the top 20 in scoring on a nation-wide exam administered by the American Chemical Society.

Academy staff members acted as instructors and advisors.

"This is the first year that the academy and the United States has taken part in the Olympiad and we are looking forward to being involved in the project for a long time to come," said Capt. Dave Summer, study camp project officer. "These are some of the most outstanding students in the world in chemistry and I'm sure they will do very well in the Olympiad."

Adult Social Day Care Program Offered At Center

The Andover Council on Aging announces the opening of an Adult Social Day Care Program at the new Andover senior center. A social day care program offers a supportive and friendly environment for elders experiencing changes in their lives due to health problems or disability. Participation in a social day care program allows men and women to continue living independently or with family while receiving needed day-to-day social care.

Appropriate participants in the program include: a person living in Andover or surrounding communities who is too frail to stay alone during the day due to ambulatory difficulties or other limitations which interfere with the performance of the tasks of daily living; a person who is physically fit yet geographically isolated and in need of socialization to counter depression, apathy and diminished self-image. Day care participants will benefit from the stimulation and support of a small group membership as well as from participation in the regularly scheduled programs and activities at the senior center.

In the social day care setting a person is able to enjoy many activities and meet new friends. The staff works closely with the individual participant and family, community, physicians and nurses, home care personnel and other service providers.

Services include:

Nutrition Program: a balanced meal is served each noon to program participants.

Special needs such as salt restricted diet and diabetic modifications are available as is individualized nutrition consultation. Morning and afternoon snacks are also provided.

Social services include personal advocacy, individual counseling, support groups and assistance to Alzheimer families. The program utilizes a broad based referral network to assist in locating needed community services.

Recreational activities include humanities, current events and other educational opportunities, plus crafts, remotivation training, support groups, movies, trips and shopping excursions. Special guest speakers and holiday programs are planned.

Health Promotions: a daily group exercise program is designed to meet the needs of each person for basic activity. Staff nurses conduct regular health assessments.

Transportation arrangements can be coordinated with local service providers.

The Andover Adult Day Care Program will open in mid-July and operate Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. except holidays and days when the Andover schools are closed due to inclement weather. The cost for the program is $15 per day, which includes all daily program costs. (Optional day trips may be extra.) Transportation costs will vary depending on the service provider. Participants may participate on a daily or weekly basis.

Old Cars On Exhibit

Todd Fair, a native of Pennsylvania and carillonneur of the West Church in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, will be the featured artist for the third in the current series of six summer carillon recitals at Memorial Tower, Andover, on Tuesday, July 17, at 7 p.m. Fair is also carillonneur of the city of Alkmaar, Holland. He will play a varied program of interest to all. The tower is located at the corner of Main (Route 28) and Salems Streets on the Phillips Academy campus. Printed programs and brochures will be available in the stand at the tower door. Bring lawn chairs or blankets and enjoy a picnic supper in any one of the prime listening areas mentioned on the back of the program. In case of rain, listen from a parked car.

Perhaps as many as 15-20 vintage antique automobiles belonging to members of the North Shore Old Car Club will be an added attraction. The club elected to attend one of the carillon concerts as one of their official outings this year. The cars will form a procession and drive from North Andover to the tower via Elm and Main Streets within the hour preceding the recital. In case of rain, the carillon recital will be given, but the Old Car Club outing will be postponed until Tuesday, July 27, when the carillonneur will be Aime Lombaert from Belgium.

Activities At The Playgrounds

Tiny Tot

The preschoolers started the summer season at Bancroft by playing the favorite Duck Duck Goose and listening to their best stories. Pet rocks were a hit and everyone enjoyed finger painting. The Fourth of July was celebrated with a parade featuring their own Bancroft Orchestra playing Mickey Mouse patriotic songs. Musical chairs were a sensation and cupcakes were decorated with red, white and blue frosting. Yum was the word for that activity.

On Friday they helped Donald Duck celebrate his 50th birthday. There was a gift exchange, popcorn making and movies. Next week there will be a Mini Olympics complete with relays, races, medals and award ceremonies.

Tiny Tot playground has moved into their new home for the summer at Bancroft and it looks and sounds like they are really enjoying themselves. Monday's art project was a tasty one. The children fingerpainted with vanilla, chocolate and pistachio pudding and there wasn't much left to clean up. The indoor climbing toy is always popular along with building blocks and Sesame Street stores and records. Everyone looked wonderful in their red, white and blue for the Fourth. The nature walk was great fun and many pine cones were found to be turned into bird feeders.

Next week there will be a beach party on the grounds with a sprinkler and a picnic lunch.

All Day

Opening day at the All Day playground was a busy one. Paper bag puppets were the craft for the day. Evan Duff, Denise Carriere and Jonah Corneau especially enjoyed this activity. The highlight of the day was pooltime. Tasha Roberts, Courtney Cunningham, Maureen Mullen and Christine Mullen had a great time splashing round. Friday an ice cream cone wall mural was made up of favorite flavors. Big ice cream fans included Jared Greenberg, Mira Tamaran, Jenny Buck and Stephanie Buck. Three dimensional pictures were the craft projects for Monday with some magnificent creations coming from Tanya Tamarkin, Tash Roberts, Courtney Cunningham, Mira Tamarkin and Denise Carriere. The favorite sport is Prison Dodgeball, which was enjoyed by everybody on Tuesday, including Gregg Hazard, John Demember, Kevin Weiner, Aron Johnson, Cara Endyke, Erica Endyke, Dana Fritsch, Gwendy Duff, Jared Greenberg. The playground was closed for the Fourth of July. Jenny and Stephanie Buck pointed the staff uptown to have a blast marching in the Horribles Parade. Thursday was stuffed animal day. Those bringing in beautiful animals were Aron Johnson, Tanya Tamarkin, Tasha Roberts, Stephanie Paten, Mira Tamarkin, John Demember and Jared Greenberg.

Ballardvale

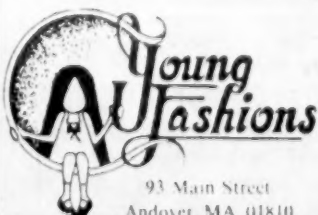

The first two weeks at Ballardvale playground have been exciting and fulfilling. Mat and Wayne Davis sominated the Frisbee tag ame while Reggie Hayes gave a break ance exhibition that was fantastic. Lisa Hayes and Cathy Giuliani were masterful at painting and creative at drawing. Angela and Vicky Giuliani were great all around in everything they participated in.

Slo-Pitch

The Merrimack Valley Chapter-March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation will hold the ninth annual Jeffrey Rourke Memorial Men's Slo Pitch Softball Tournament on the July 13 weekend at Hayden Scholfield Playstead in Lawrence.

July 6 is the deadline for entry. For more information, contact Sheryl at the March of Dimes, 89 North Main St., Andover, MA 01810.

Bancroft

Bancroft playground returned for yet another fulfilled summer. Among the returnees were the O'Handleys, the Daniels, the Tredes, the Collins, Peter O'Leary, Sean Baldwin, Laughlin Chandler and the Hosmers. A special surprise was the mohawks worn by newly-shaven Todd "the bod" and Paul Allard. There are also many new faces: the Smiths, Meghan Watt, Alison Bicknell, the Sonntags, the Nortons and the Ragoneses.

So far they've built popsicle stick creations, clothespin butterflies and men, beaded necklaces, paper bag puppets and of course, the all-time favorite, gimp. Prisoner dodgeball is still a favorite game as well as wrestling and bike racing. Paul Allard had his face painted red, white and blue and marched in the July 4 parade with the other counselors. New to Bancroft are counselors Bill and Jenn. Returning is Sharon with Jimmy and Johnny volunteering their help.

Doherty

The Doherty spirit was evident right from the start. Fresh out of school youngsters on Thursday and Friday did the following: Capture the Flag, 4-square, snowflake making and popsicle stick creations. Super stars included Jason Twombly, Leah Mason, Andy Lynch, Najanne Khoury, Ryan Hanson and Mike Newman. There was a huge soccer game on Monday with Jon Butt, Jennifer Butt, Patrick Hess, Steven and Christine Tsepas. Tuesdays highlights were paperbag puppets by Matt Gendron, Leah Mason and Josh Mathews and banner making. Did you see Doherty's banner in the Fourth of July Horribles Parade? Thursday offered medic, an obstacle course and prison ball. Thursday's "angels" included Peter Newman, Ryan Hanson, Conlin O'Neil, Cori O'Brien and Danny Wrigley.

Sanborn

The first week was a great success. Tuesday captains Lee Chen, Chris Stamm and Jay Flannley found out how exciting a Scavenger Hunt can be. On the more artistic side, Brian and Amanda Fericano showed that creativity runs in the family in popsicle stick building.

Bitten By The "Orchid Bug", They're Hooked On A Growing Hobby

By Sue Aucella Deacon

At first Marcia and Martin Epstein had just one or two orchids, a birthday present to Marcia, growing on a sun-lit coffee table in front of their picture window.

When the coffee table started to look a bit crowded, the Epsteins moved their orchids to a large plant stand. And when the plant stand began to overflow with the exotic blossoms, they built a greenhouse — their first one.

Fifteen years and three states later, they're on their fourth greenhouse, a prettily-landscaped glass rectangle (approximately 14 by 20 feet) in the yard next to their Andover home. "We sort of got bit," Marcia says, by the orchid-growing bug. "I think we're both addicted."

Six or seven years ago, when even a greenhouse was not enough to accommodate their ever-multiplying orchids, Marcia and Martin began to sell plants. They sell to garden centers and to people they meet at occasional craft fairs (including the Hand-springs Arts and Crafts Show held at Phillips Academy this past spring), and they've had "a lot of fun and made a lot of friends" in the process, Martin says.

Still, they think of their orchids as more of a part-time hobby than a business: The profits from sales help to keep the hobby self-supporting, Marcia notes.

The Epsteins call their enterprise Eden's Orchids, which calls up images of a tropical paradise, appropriately enough — but Eden is actually Martin's middle name (his mother named him after a Jack London hero, Martin Eden, because she happened to be reading that book when Martin was born).

The Epsteins moved to Andover with Marcia's mother, Marie McCupcheon, three years ago from Weston (the site of their third greenhouse), and after years of moving around the country they hope to stay here for years to come.

Martin's work in the chemical industry took the family from Pennsylvania to New Jersey, North Carolina and California before they returned to the east coast. (He's now self-employed as a consultant.)

Over the years, they've "deposited" their five grown children all over the country, Martin jokes: Brian in California, Janna in Washington state, Susan in New Jersey, Bill in Michigan, and the youngest, Vicki, in Boston.

The Epsteins' first greenhouse was in New Jersey and the next was in California, so their orchids have traveled from coast to coast (and have endured the trips quite nicely).

Their latest greenhouse is filled with about 50 different orchid genera (groups of closely-related but distinct species of orchids) and perhaps 500 plants, growing in tiny pots and large pots that fill tables and hang from the ceiling.

Some are growing on small pieces of bark lining the walls of the greenhouse, because in the wild they would be growing on tree limbs, and would die if they were potted. These are called epiphytes, as opposed to terrestrial orchids, which grow in soil — or, more precisely, in fir bark and moss.

Orchids grow wild in South and Central America, the Caribbean islands, Southeast Asia, Africa — and in New England. The delicate "lady slipper" found (rarely) in local woods, for instance, is a cypripedium orchid.

"There are more orchids than any other kinds of plants, both in nature and hybrids (cross-breeds developed by growers)," Martin explains. It's estimated that there are 600 different genera of orchids, at least 25,000 species (more than 150 of them native to the United States), and some 35,000 man-made hybrids (hybrids are also found in nature).

At Eden's Orchids, you'll find the orchids most often seen in corsages, dramatic cattleyas and daintier cymbidiums. You'll find vandas, the hanging orchids used to make Hawaiian leis, and gorgeous miltonias, blooming in vivid pinks, reds, and yellows. You'll find plenty of phalaenopsis orchids — perhaps the Epsteins' favorite — considered by many the most beautiful orchids with their wing-shaped white or pink petals.

You'll also find odd specimens Martin has collected just because they appealed to him. He's especially fond of one "cute" little orchid that has blooms so tiny you'd need a magnifying glass to see them.

In the late 1800s and early 1900s, the orchid business was "pretty cut-throat," Martin says. British orchid-hunters, for example, scooped up "huge quantities" of the flowers in South America or Southeast Asia and pirated them to England, never to reveal where they had found the wild plants.

It's a little tamer today, Martin finds orchid-growers to be "warm, nice, outgoing people", and that's one of the main attractions of the hobby, he says.

Another is that despite their pampered hothouse aura, orchids are in fact quite easy to grow, as the Epsteins tell their sometimes-skeptical customers.

"People don't believe how easy they are to grow," Marcia says, although she adds that "patience" helps. Martin likes to quote writer Dick Young, who wrote in an October 1983 article in "Sky" magazine, "Orchids are pussycats, and even the brownest thumb can grow them and bring them to bloom."

A weekly watering, occasional fertilizing and regular re-potting are all the care that orchids require, the Epsteins say, and the key to keeping them blooming is the right temperature and the right amount of light. They learned how to keep their flowers happy by talking to other growers, doing a great deal of reading, and "making our own mistakes — we kill a plant now and then," Martin says philosophically.

Orchids vary in their temperature requirements, but in general they "don't like it as warm as many people think," Martin says. "They don't always need 70 or 80 degrees."

Many thrive at daytime temperatures of up to 90 degrees, but others do well at 65 degrees, and some can tolerate nighttime temperatures as low as 45 degrees. (The Epsteins' greenhouse is divided into two sections with separate heating units, a warm section and a cool section.)

Light requirements vary as well, but few orchids can endure direct sunlight; many prefer filtered light or shade. The flowers also need humidity, which the Epsteins provide with a spraying system inside their greenhouse.

One thing they dread is winter power failures. They have an alarm rigged to sound in their bedroom whenever the greenhouse gets too cold (or, in summer, too hot), and "of course it always goes off in the middle of the night," Marcia says. "And of course it always happens when I'm in San Francisco," Martin adds.)

At the sound of the alarm, Marcia "jumps out of bed" and runs outside to start up an emergency generator, fueled with propane gas, to keep the greenhouse warm. Left unheated for more than a few minutes, the orchids would freeze to death.

Books and pamphlets offer detailed instructions on growing orchids, "but what they don't tell you is that if you don't do it exactly their way, it really doesn't make much difference," Martin maintains. "Orchids are very forgiving, they really are."

Marcia describes the time when arrangements to have their orchids watered during a one-week vacation went awry, and the flowers went without care all week. When they returned home, "the orchids were fine," she recalls. "Our house plants suffered more than the orchids did." (She adds, however, that orchids definitely require "babysitting" during vacations of more than one week.)

Orchid-growers love to try developing new orchids by "crossing" (cross-pollinating) two flowers. "It's easy to make crosses," Martin says, "but it's hard to make good ones."

Growers may submit a new creation to the Royal Horticulture Society in London, and if the society certifies that it is indeed a unique cross, it will be registered with the society and printed in its official listing of hybrids, a hefty volume published every five years.

Andover Residents Honored

Three Andover residents recently received Distinguished Technical Staff Awards from AT&T Bell Laboratories in recognition of their significant contributions. Those honored were Hazen Curtis III, Curtis A. Siller, Jr., and Edward D. Walsh.

Hazen Curtis III of 29 Mary Lou Lane works in the subsystems technology department of the Technology Support Laboratory. A graduate of Lowell Technological Institute, Lowell, he has been awarded several patents for contributions in the areas of magnetic and attenuator devices and in hybrid integrated circuits.

Curtis A. Siller, Jr. of 3 Wintergreen Circle works in the Digital Systems and Applications Department. Since joining Bell Laboratories in 1969 he has analyzed and designed reflector antennas for terrestrial communication systems; studied equalization techniques for digital radio; performed exploratory work in digital signal processing; and is system engineering future digital transmission systems.

Edward D. Walsh of 6 Standish Circle works in the Computer-Aided Design Department. His significant career contributions have been in the areas of CAD, including development of circuit simulation programs and aids for the design of logic circuits and in UNIX systems and networking support.

Gin gets its name from a corruption of the French word genievre, or juniper, the source of gin's characteristic flavor.

On Dean's List

Named to the Dean's List at the University of Maine, Orono, Maine, for the spring semester were Emily Earnshaw Baldwin of Andover; Douglas Richard Agnolun, John David Hennessey and Mark Stephen Ratte of North Andover.

Slogan Contest

Colonial Chorus Players, the Reading-based musical theater troupe, invites area residents to enter its "Create a Slogan" contest. The slogan, which will appear on bumper stickers and other promotional material, should be no more than six words in length and in some fashion incorporate the name "Colonial Chorus Players." The winner will receive two free tickets to David Merrick's "42nd Street," presently enjoying a run in Boston, as well as two free tickets to Colonial Chorus Players' fall production.

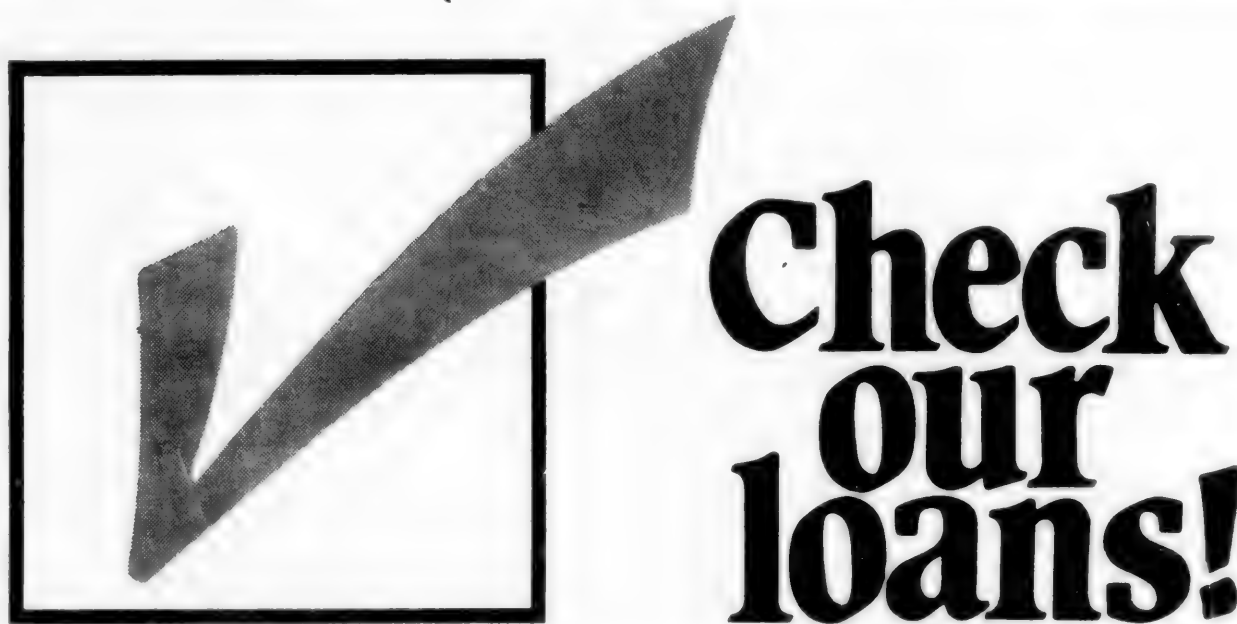

Contestants should submit their entries, along with their names, addresses and telephone numbers, to Colonial Chorus Players, 75 Grove St., Reading, MA 01867. The deadline is Friday, July 27. Multiple entries are permissible.

Bible School Celebration

A celebration seems to be the most fitting way to end a program that taught the wonders of God. The Andover Baptist Church Vacation Bible School ended their week-long program with a party for their students and their families last Friday night. The theme for this year was "The Wonder Fair". The school ran from July 2-6 and taught pre-school to high school students God's wonders and the Bible by means of songs and crafts. The students also formed the "Mission Project" and contributed canned food or money to the neighbors in need. Photos clockwise upper left: Five year-old Mara McManus of Old South Lane has a clown's face put on by Heather Fuller of North Andover; Two year-old Amy Danner of Lawrence snacks on a cookie; Lisa Murphy, ten, and Karen Greenwood, ten, both from North Andover talk about what they learned in school; Four year-old Joey Natalino's balloon says it all; Cynthia Davis, eight, Chrissy Contos, six, Elizabeth Clarke, seven and Mary Beth Hamilton, six, gather around the lemonade bowl.

Moving Along

Regrading work at the new town offices on Bartlet Street (formerly two wings of East Junior High School) is moving along. This week, the outlines of a new circular driveway became visible as the piles of earth that have been decorating the site were spread around the area. The final product will be new driveways and parking areas around the office wings. The town manager anticipates that the project will be completed around Labor Day.

NEW PRE-ARRANGED LOAN SECURED BY REAL ESTATE

Remember your first mortgage? Using your home for security gave you a substantial sum of money. Back then, you used it to buy that home. Today, you can use your home to secure an equity loan. It, too, probably represents substantial buying power; power you'll need for college tuitions, home improvements or other major purchases.

How'd you like to be able to exercise that spending power anytime you wanted? It's possible with the Haverhill Cooperative Bank's Credit/Line Reserve™ Account.

The closing costs to arrange Credit/Line Reserve are quite reasonable. And, you will not be required to pay interest or any service charge if you have not written a check on the account.

Simply stated, we give you a checkbook. When you write a Credit/Line check we automatically put enough money into the account to cover the check. And, no charges are made until that check is written—even if your first check is ten years later!

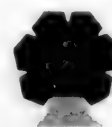

So, why not inquire today about our Credit/Line Reserve™ Account at our mortgage department. Arrange to exercise your spending power when you want to... just by writing a check.

DIET CENTER'S TIPS FOR TRAVELING

Travel, especially vacationing, like so many other forms of relaxation and pleasure, is often associated with food. We often find that traveling and eating go hand in hand. You can, however, choose nutritious foods and plan in advance. By taking along fresh fruits and vegetables, boiled eggs, and other healthful foods, you can maintain a stable blood sugar level and control your cravings. You can feel satisfied without eating rich and fattening snack foods. By planning ahead, you can also supply your body with vitamins and minerals, as well as fiber and bulk (so often needed when traveling, to prevent constipation).

It is also the utmost importance that you drink eight 8-oz. glasses of water each day. Water is a cleanser and aids in other bodily processes.

Your Diet Center Counselor will be happy to help you plan a suitable travel menu.

Cleaning A Microwave Oven

Because of its clean cooking ability, the microwave requires very little cleaning attention.

A microwave oven can be kept looking "as good as new" by simply wiping out the interior with warm sudsy water and a soft cloth or sponge after using it.

For stubborn soil, boil a cup of water in the oven for two or three minutes to let the steam soften the soil, then simply wipe it out. Be sure to clean the areas where the door and oven frame touch when closed and then rinse well. Abrasive cleaners or steel wool pads can damage the control panel and electronics. The exterior of the microwave oven may be cleaned with a soft cloth or sponge and mild detergent or spray glass cleaner.

Gets Grant

The University of Lowell Departments of electrical, mechanical, chemical and plastics engineering received a $150,000 gift certificate from Analog Devices, Norwood, to purchase items of their choice from Analog's product line catalogs.

Analog's grant is in addition to a $175,000 endowment the company awarded T. Lowell earlier this year to establish the Analog Devices Career Development Professorship in Electrical Engineering, a program which has expanded the college's professional engineering personnel.

The gift certificate, to be apportioned evenly from 1985 through 1987, enables the college's engineering departments to select, as needed, components, sub-systems and systems from Analog's product line catalogs.

Items ordered will be used in the laboratory for process control and to support the college's new doctor of engineering program.

Carole A. Finneran, 48, North Andover Teacher

Carole Ann (Dempsey) Finneran of 19 Beacon Hill Blvd., North Andover, a North Andover school teacher for more than 20 years, died Tuesday at the Deaconess Hospital, Boston, following a brief illness. She was 48.

She was the wife of TOWNSMAN Editor Robert E. Finneran. The couple celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last November.

Friends and colleagues knew Mrs. Finneran as a spirited, caring woman and a teacher dedicated to her students.

"Carole was someone the teachers looked up to for advice and guidance. She was well-respected and very much loved," said Stanley Strom, assistant principal at the North Andover Middle School, where Mrs. Finneran was a sixth-grade mathematics teacher.

The assistant principal said Mrs. Finneran was an "extremely dedicated teacher" who recognized the importance of sending her students on to high school well-prepared in her subject, and a teacher whose students responded to her warmth.

"She had an awful lot of success with youngsters when others teachers didn't," he said. "She always had the tap on the back for them, the smile, the words of encouragement. There was an air about her."

Mrs. Finneran was always a willing volunteer as well. "the kind of person who gave and didn't ask for anything in return," the assistant principal added. She was, for example, the driving force behind a system-wide retirement banquet held for long-time employees of the school department last month, Strom said. "She was always there when you needed her. She never held back."

"Carole was really one of the most pleasant people," fellow sixth-grade teacher John Cote said. "She was always smiling and always had a cheery hello. She was well-liked by the whole faculty — she's going to be missed."

Born in Lawrence, Mrs. Finneran was a graduate of Lawrence High School and a 1957 graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, where she earned a bachelor of arts degree in education.

She taught in the Haverhill school system for a number of years before coming to the North Andover school department in 1967, where she first taught sixth-grade classes at the Kittredge School. She began teaching at the Middle School in 1973.

Mrs. Finneran belonged to the National Education Association, the Massachusetts Teachers Association, and the North Andover Teachers Association. She was an active member of St. Michael's parish in North Andover as well.

Carole Ann Finneran

In addition to her husband, she leaves her mother, Mrs. Gertrude (Morgan) Dempsey of North Andover; three sisters, Dr. Claire Dempsey Grady of North Andover, Mrs. Charles (Gertrude V.) Stahley of Melrose and Barbara A. Dempsey of North Andover; a number of nieces and nephews, several aunts, and one cousin.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Michael's Church, Main Street, North Andover. Burial will be in Ridgewood Cemetery, North Andover.

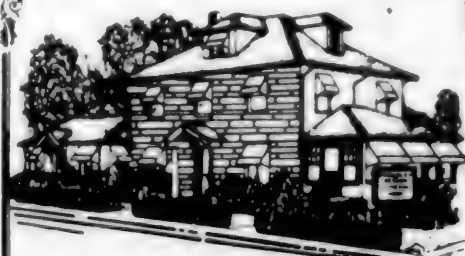

Friends may call from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today at the John Breen Funeral Home, 35 Merrimack St., North Andover.

FOR YOUR SECURITY

We have been advised that some families unfortunately experienced burglaries of their homes during the hours they were at the funeral home or church service.

We would like to suggest certain precautions that should be taken during hours the family may spend at the funeral or during prior visitation.

1. Be advised that professional security is available from a security company affiliated with our funeral home at a moderate expense. For visiting hours and funeral, personnel are inconspicuously dressed. For more information, contact John D. Caron, Funeral Director.
2. Alert neighbors to your calling hours. Ask if someone might house-sit.
3. Leave lights and a T.V. or radio on.
4. Notify local police of the hours your home will be vacant.

Mrs. Poore Leads Effort To Repeal Tax Surcharge

Susan T. Poore, a Republican candidate for the 17th Essex district seat in the state House of Representatives, thinks the Massachusetts seven and one-half percent income tax surcharge should be repealed.

Although she has not formally announced her intention to seek the seat now occupied by Susan Tucker, of Andover, Poore has filed the necessary 200 signatures to get a question on the November 6 ballot to get rid of the tax.

A member of the Andover School Committee and a businesswoman here in Andover, Poore said a survey she and members of her campaign conducted of residents in the 17th Essex district, which includes Andover and part of Lawrence, brought the surtax issue to the surface.

She explained that in his first term as governor of Massachusetts Michael S. Dukakis instituted the tax in the late 1970s as a way for the state to raise more money. Now, with a surplus in the state coffers, Poore said she thinks it is time to give the money back.

"People feel very strongly about this," she said. So far Poore said she had 480 responses to the survey that she explained was both printed and person-on-the-street in design. She said there are more surveys to be tabulated. And the candidate, who lives at 85 Osgood St., said she would release more information about the survey results when they are tabulated.

In order to get a non-binding question on the November ballot Poore turned in 200 signatures to Town Clerk Elden R. Salter who has to verify each one. They are then filed by Poore with Secretary of State Michael Connelley and finally reviewed by Attorney General Francis Bellotti. If they are approved the question will appear on the ballot.

Susan T. Poore, a candidate for the 17th Essex representative seat in the Massachusetts House, filed signatures for a non-binding question on the Nov. 6 ballot to repeal the seven and one-half percent surtax on the state income tax. Poore, who lives at 85 Osgood St., will face Rep. Susan Tucker for the House seat which Tucker has held for two years.

But whether Poore's question to repeal the law will have any effect if Andover and Lawrence voters go along with it is another question. As a non-binding question it is intended only to inform state and local officials how constituents feel about a particular issue. Poore said it may also be a barometer of how elected representatives respond to their constituents.

"This certainly gives elected officials a message from the voting public that they are concerned about something," she said. "If those elected officials choose to disregard it you begin to wonder just how responsive they are."

Roberta Solmon and Antonio Mendoza inspect mail that was damaged when firecrackers were thrown in to a mail box at the corner of Essex and School Streets. Much of the mail in the box was reduced to ashes, the remaining letters appear in the photo.

Tossed Firecrackers Destroy Letters, Bills

Neither rain, not hail, nor sleet and snow will keep Andover's mail carriers from delivering your mail. But firecrackers just may prevent your letters and bills from reaching their destinations.

Mail in two mailboxes in town was destroyed after firecrackers tossed inside the boxes burned the mail. The first incident occurred on Friday, June 29, at about 3:30 p.m., when mail carrier Jim Moran went to pick up the mail in the box at the corner of School and Essex streets. Postmaster Antonio Mendoza told THE TOWNSMAN that Moran noticed much of the mail in the box had been destroyed by firecrackers. About 40 envelopes, less than half of Moran's usual daily pick-up, remained at the bottom of the box amidst the burned ashes of most of the mail.

With the July Fourth holiday following the first firecracker incident Mendoza said he was worried about more vandalism. He said he notified the Andover Police of the burned mail and asked them to watch the box. But Police Chief James Johnson said he had nothing on the daily log about the vandalism. In fact Johnson said he was surprised that the July Fourth holiday had passed without damage to town mailboxes.

"We usually get bothered by mail box vandalism at this time of the year," said the chief. "I've been surprised that it hadn't happened so far."

The second mailbox tampered with was discovered last Thursday, July 5, when a firecracker ruined about five pieces of mail in the box in front of THE TOWNSMAN, at 89 North Main St.

Mendoza said the box at Essex and School streets will be moved as a result of the vandalism. The 40 or so pieces of mail, most of which are singed along the sides of the envelopes, will be returned to their senders with a note explaining the firecracker incident. The mail without a return address will be forwarded to whom it was mailed.

Mendoza added that he had been receiving calls from town residents who were finding out the cards and bills they had sent out hadn't been received.

Roberta Solmon, superintendent at the Andover Post Office, said that both incidents were reported to Boston postal officials.

Musgrove Building, Downtown Complex About To Be Sold

By Susan Rand

The 89-year-old Musgrove building in Elm Square is expected to change hands sometime this summer when North Andover owner Robert E. Webster sells it and three other properties to an undisclosed investment group.

A sale is in the works that would have a Boston-based investment group purchasing the Elm Square building, the two Regency Apartment complexes, located on Post Office Avenue and Andover Street; and three wooden structures now home to five commercial businesses, according to sources close to Webster.

But the sale is not final on the properties, which town records show are assessed at a total of over $1.5 million. Webster and the Boston investment group are negotiating the terms of the agreement, sources said.

The Boston concern does not have an option to purchase the four properties. Sources say discussions on the sale began about a month ago when the prospective buyers approached Webster, who had not put the property up for sale, about purchasing the four buildings. There were other buyers interested in the four properties, THE TOWNSMAN was told.

Webster, who is chairman of the board of Channel Building Company Inc., which is located in the Musgrove building, bought the Regency Court Apartment complexes, which each have 26 one-bedroom units, from North Andover developers Benjamin Osgood and Victor Hatem in September of 1982. The apartments are owned in the name of Regency Realty Trust, of which Webster is the trustee. They were built by North Andover developer C. Lincoln Giles.

The Musgrove building, which has approximately 26,000 square feet of floor space, and the three wooden buildings at 4-16 Post Office Square have been solely owned by Webster since May of 1973, when he bought out two North Andover men who were part owners of the property with him: Webster, George Stern, of North Andover, and the late Michael Batal, a lawyer who lived in North Andover, bought the Musgrove property from Samuel Resnik, who had owned it since 1918.

Built in 1895, the Musgrove building was thought to be a "modern commercial" building when built by businessman John Flint, according to Andover Historical Society records. The brick structure, which Society notes refer to as a "flat, iron shaped building," was built on land that had once occupied Elm House, a hotel and tavern.

All four properties are managed by the Bayfield Company, which is owned by Webster. Sale negotiations also include talks about whether Bayfield will still manage Webster's property. Sources say that whoever takes over management of the property after the imminent sale will run the property in much the same way.

Now the Musgrove building houses a mixture of retail businesses and professional offices. Located on the first floor, facing Main Street, is Berke's, a sewing goods store; Andover Photo, Josef's, a hair styling shop for men, and the Andover Candy Shop, the lease on which has expired. Sources say the space is expected to be divided by the Antique Jewelry shop and Enzo's of Andover, a men's clothing store, which are both next to the sweets shop. Facing Post Office Avenue, also on the first floor of the Musgrove building, is the Futon shop, which sells window blinds and mattresses.

Zoning Board Okays Andover Bank Permit

The Andover Savings Bank will be able to construct a branch in West Andover thanks to an approval of a special permit and a variance from the Andover Zoning Board of Appeals.

The board heard from bank officials at their Friday, July 6 meeting and voted unanimously to conditionally approve the bank's requests. The vote came at the Saturday morning deliberation meeting held by the board after they visited the branch site, said board member Jane Griswold.

Specific conditions will be put into the final draft of the board's decision, which has not yet been written, but the specifics have not yet been agreed upon by the board because the bank still has to supply a final draft of the design of the bank branch building.

Bank officer Richard MacGowen was unaware of the board's decision and refused comment since he had not yet been notified of the vote. He also couldn't say when revised plans would be ready since he hadn't been told more plans would be requested by a member of the Zoning Board.

In another decision the board agreed to schedule another deliberation meeting to discuss plans to create an employee parking area at the Howe real estate and insurance building, at 6 Pynchard Avenue. They visited the site on Saturday but did not make a decision at their deliberation meeting because they ran out of time. A date for that meeting has not yet been set, said Griswold.

Celebrating The 4th

With the help of the town officials, The Committee For Patriotic Observances held their annual July 4th celebration. The committee, which was founded 3 years ago by a group of Andover citizens, prepared a variety of events for the townspeople to enjoy. The celebration kicked off with a Horribles Parade that included 200 kids and adults participating and a number of people lining the streets to watch. Costume ranged from anything to everything and a variety of vehicles decorated to the max. Games and food stands kept the celebration going all day long. Evening provided entertainment from rap music and break dancing to German music and chicken dancing. The young and old enjoyed just sitting back and watching or jumping up and participating in both events. Good Citizens Dedicated recyclers continue to bring their newspapers to the downtown pickup bin at Park and Bartlet streets (site of the former Heartland Jr. store) while the Andover Recycling Committee searches for a new contractor to resume curbside pickup. In the meantime, recycling summer volunteers like Stephen Young of Boston Road (left) and Brian Garside of Ridge Street remind citizens that the only paper items that should be dropped off for recycling are newspapers, magazines and corrugated cardboard.

On Field Use

To The Board of Selectmen:

Why is it so easy to turn a major accomplishment, of which we should be proud, into a problem? The accomplishment I speak of is the growth of youth recreational sports programs in Andover. Over 3,000 youth, i.e. 10 percent of our population, now participate in an outdoor sports program; all of which are organized, operated and funded by volunteers. Hooray for Andover.

But, alas the problem, the grass isn't green and the fields look like someone has been on them. So, we should throw the kids off the fields and make sure they understand that grass is more important than children in Andover. Surely you can do better.

I am most disappointed in the results of your meeting last week. The recommendations that were presented show a lack of knowledge in this area and some very questionable priorities.

First, let me state that I am a former board member of the Andover Soccer Association and a current board member of the Andover Little League. However, the views expressed are solely my own.

1. The fields are not overused. You can't overuse a field. That's what they are there for. To the best of my knowledge, there is no rule in any sport that requires beautiful grass for the game to be played. At least one Andover field has been stripped of grass for several years, but it continues to be used and everyone still benefits.

2. There is a shortage of fields, but in fact, the fields are not used from "sunrise to sunset." I have several times this spring looked for fields and have always found empty space. The shortage of fields results in a reduction of the quality of play early in the spring season. This is unfortunate, especially for teams playing against other towns, but it is a small compromise.

3. The school programs should be given priority in field use, but it should be recognized that school programs represent an inefficient use of the fields. The fields get heavy use by a very small percentage of the potential users.

4. Soccer is no harder on a field than any other sport. However, the number of players does involve heavy use. The lower Shawsheen field does get hard use because the adult teams will not adjust their practice or games to account for field conditions.

5. Youth soccer is a spring sport across the entire United States. Dropping that program would make no sense. More importantly, what alternate program of equal value do you propose for these 1,500 youth?

6. Banning new youth athletic groups also makes no sense. This spring a group started a badly needed girls softball league for young players. Hooray for the organizers. Are the fields more important than these girls?

7. On two occasions my nine-year-old son

The Public Forum

mowed part of the Sanborn fields so that he and 90 other boys and girls could play a reasonable game of baseball this spring. Mowing could be improved, but the real problem is other maintenance.

8. On at least six occasions I personally did maintenance on the Sanborn fields so that baseball could be played. This involved haling water, sweeping water, digging and hauling dirt and raking. Finally, I had Mike LeBreck request some fill dirt for me. Municipal maintenance did dump a load of fill, 200-300 yards from where it was needed. A few volunteers helped me manually move some dirt. Fortunately, another father of a nine-year-old ballplayer volunteered to move the rest with his front-end loader.

This is the real field problem.

I am disappointed in your recent actions. Please ask our town manager to get all the facts before making recommendations. But, more important, let's keep Andover youth higher on our priority list than grass. We do not need beautiful fields, we need safe, useable fields. Please let the players kill the grass.

The fields do not need rest, they need common sense maintenance. Someone should inspect the fields in early spring and late summer and ask "Is the field safe?" and "Is the field useable?" I am convinced that a few minutes of preventive maintenance with the proper manpower and equipment will keep the fields in continuous use for a long time. They won't be beautiful, but so what.

For the long run, we need more fields. You should investigate a long-term lease of some town land to a consortium of sports organizations to help resolve this issue. Also, if any more fields are rebuilt, please demand better results.

I apologize for the long letter, but Andover youth are important to me and I hate to see us move in the wrong direction. Feel free to contact me if I can help in any way with the field question.

No Fireworks

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

My husband and I were both born and brought up, as were our parents, in the fine town of Andover. Today, the Fourth of July, we were both very disappointed that there were no fireworks. When you grow up in a small town, there are many small things that really mean a lot to you. The fireworks was one of them. I think it is really too bad that a town like Andover could not continue with that small part of tradition. What ever happened to tradition? Maybe too many out-of-towners don't realize what the fireworks meant to the many natives that were born here. There are many of us left. Why should we have to go to North Andover for the fireworks when our town should have them?

I think Mr. Mahony should talk, not consult, to a few of the people in town before he makes his decisions regarding traditional matters.

Maybe next year we will be able to complain about the parking and the mosquitoes at the fireworks as we've done for as long as I can remember. That's tradition, too.

Rosemary MacDonald
2 Upland Road

Appreciative

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

It seems to me that Andover gets more than its money's worth from its firefighters and policemen. In each of the near-disasters which has beset us in recent years we have been struck by the efficient and caring manner of the professionals involved. I am thinking particularly of our recent robbery. It took no more than 10 minutes from the time I called for Officer Aumais to be in my kitchen learning about what had occurred.

was chaotic due to registration, but also filled with much fun. Michelle, Mike, Michele and Mary were happy to see all the familiar faces as well as the new.

Unfortunately, it was rainy on Friday but they made the best of it by playing indoor games and crafts. The day was brightened with the arrival of Ballardvale playground.

The weather Monday was much more promising. Mike and Michelle took a group of kids to Rose Glen dairy. Robert Dawley and David Lewin chowed down their ice cream with pleasure. Tuesday was a day for artists. Erica Snyder and Katie Wise made many gorgeous masterpieces. The Fourth of July was full of fun. Michelle and Suzanne Doucette, Laura Veno and Chris Cashman marched with pride for South playground. Thursday was also a day of fun. Anne Murnane and Michelle came in first during the second round of the egg toss while Craig Milligan and Joey Philopon came in first during the first round. The day ended in a tasty not with everyone enjoying watermelon. Friday began the weekly cookouts with plenty of hot dogs and hamburgers as well as ketchup and mustard to make the picnic complete.

West Elementary

The West Elementary playground started their summer last Thursday with a rousing game of Capture the Flag followed by a heated game of bombardment.

On Friday there was a large turnout and uncooperative weather, so the kids amused themselves by making birthday cards for the supervisor Craig Silva.

Monday popsicle stick constructions were made. Adam Ferry and Megan Selvitelli came up with unique displays. Later Matt Abernathy, Anne Marie Charland, Amy Cohen and Gregg Cloutier were victorious in a Simon Says competition.

The main attraction on Tuesday was a floor hockey tournament. John Melillo, Chris Lane and goalie Marc Selvitelli led their team to victory. Later that day those who planned to march in the Horribles Parade designed their costumes.

The entire staff and many playgrounders, including Jackie and Annie Glasebrook, David and Ann Marie Charland, Audrey and David Messna and Joey Sirois, all marched in the parade as a pack of Crayola Crayons.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

With the exception of white, home appliance colors rise and fall in popularity. In the 1950's, pink, turquoise, yellow and brown were all the rage for refrigerators, ranges, freezers, dishwashers, washers and dryers. In the 1960's, the pastels gave way to avocado, gold and copper with shaded edges. By the mid-1970's, these colors were reintroduced as solids and almond came on the scene. Now, a range of grays and warmer earth tones in brown and beige are showing up. One domestic appliance maker is setting the pace by introducing platinum. It is a light gray that works well with trendy decorating schemes that use greens, blues, purples, terra-cottas and toast (an earth tone lighter than coffee but darker than almond).

Trendy colors do tend to date your kitchen. One way to always stay fashionable is to choose natural products. Wood cabinets, for example, are always popular because of their good looks and lasting quality. At WINDSOR KITCHENS you'll be able to select custom wood cabinets in the style of your choice. Our beautiful showroom has many ideas for your kitchen and our design service will give you a kitchen that will be as unique as you are. At 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill we offer today's fashions that will endure time. See us Mon-Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. til 8; Sat. til 2 & by appt. Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:

A white kitchen appliance will never go out of favor because of color.

Aiello Hurls Third Shutout

By Rick Harrison

Andover Gold, 5-0

His six-hit gem against archrival Blue followed consecutive 8-0 one-hitters thrown at South Lawrence East and South Lawrence West.

It also marked the first time an Andover

A record-breaking third straight shutout by 15-year-old righthander Larry Aiello and a second dramatic comeback in less than a week against North Andover enabled the Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team to move within one victory of clinching its fourth Greater Lawrence League championship in the last six years.

Aiello, now 4-0 on the mound, scattered six singles and allowed only two runners beyond first base as Gold whitewashed intra-town rival Andover Blue 5-0 in their final regular-season meeting of the 1984 campaign.

Trailing 3-2 and down to his final out in the bottom of the seventh, Gold rallied to tie North Andover on Mile Lane's clutch single and then won the contest 4-3 on Aiello's suicide squeeze bunt in the bottom of the eighth. The two victories stretched Andover Gold's current winning streak to seven straight games and hiked the first-place team's overall ledger to 10-2 in its bid for the league title.

Gold held a 2½ game lead over runner-up South Lawrence West (8-5) at the start of the week, while North Andover checked in at 7-6 and Blue at 6-6-1.

With four games remaining, AG needed a victory against SLW earlier this week to officially clinch the championship. Otherwise, the locals must capture two of their last three starts to assure themselves the title.

Gold was also scheduled to battle South Lawrence East earlier this week and AG travels to Grogan's Field for a game against North Andover this evening.

Babe Ruth pitcher has ever tossed three consecutive shutouts. Aiello permitting just eight hits and no runs over the last 21 innings.

Aiello walked only two (one intentional), struck out one, threw only 66 pitches and had some outstanding errorless defensive support.

Andover Resident Top Coach

By Rick Harrison

Andover resident Charlie Ryan, coach of the 1983-84 Eastern Mass. Division I champion Lowell High varsity hoop team, has been honored as the Bay State's District I "Coach Of The Year" by the Massachusetts Basketball Coaches Association.

The association's executive board selects the state's four recipients with District I encompassing the northeastern part of the Commonwealth. Ryan, a resident of 4 Cindy Lane for the past 11 years, will receive his award at the annual MBCA Hall of Fame Dinner on September 20 at Regis College.

Ryan's Lowell High crew put together an exceptional 21-2 season this past winter, sharing the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School championship with Central Catholic before sweeping to the school's first Eastern Mass. Division I title.

Along the way Ryan's Red Raiders eliminated some formidable opponents in defending EMass. king Don Bosco Tech of East Boston (84-80 in overtime), Lexington High and Cambridge Rindge & Latin (Pat Ewing's alma mater). Lowell was finally derailed in the state tournament semifinals by an equally well-drilled and talented Durllee High School squad.

Ryan has directed the Lowell High School basketball fortunes for nine years, since the 1975-76 campaign and compiled an enviable 127-66 overall record. LHS has won or shared two Merrimack Valley Conference crowns in the last four years and has qualified for the Eastern Mass. Tournament five times under Ryan including four of the last five seasons.

In 1982-83 Lowell also opened a few eyes by battling to the Eastern Mass. semifinals before losing a shootout to eventual champ Don Bosco. Lowell has also won the annual Greater Lowell Christmas Tournament title, the upriver equivalent to the Greater Lawrence Christmas Festival, five times in the tourney's seven-year existence.

Ryan, a five-time "Lowell Sun" Coach of the Year, is a native of Lowell.

He graduated from Lowell High School and Plymouth State College, playing football, basketball and baseball in high school and basketball and baseball in college.

His previous coaching stints were at Manchester, N.H. Memorial High (track and gymnastics), Kingswood Regional in Wolfeboro, N.H., (track and baseball) and Lebanon, N.H. High School (football).

Charlie Ryan

A teacher at the Daley Junior High School in Lowell for the past 16 years, Ryan was also the assistant varsity basketball coach for six years (1969-75) and has served as an assistant varsity football coach and head freshman football, baseball and wrestling coach in that city.

He has been an instructor at K.C. Jones Summer Basketball Camp, now located at Norwich, Vt., for many years and has promoted the sport in Lowell with such annual attractions as The Night of Roundball and a Slam Dunk Contest that draws many of the top players from throughout Eastern Massachusetts.

Ryan's 11-year-old son, Sean, is a fine all-around athlete competing in local Andover football, basketball and baseball leagues.

Charlie and his wife, Janice, are also the proud parents of a second son, Kevin.

The older I get the more wisdom I find in the ancient rule of taking first things first—a process which often reduces the most complex human problems to manageable proportion.

Shutout

Blue hit the ball hard virtually all night, but almost every Gold performer chipped in at least one solid defensive play.

Rightfielder Chris Nelson had five putouts, shortstop Chris Colsia handled four chances flawlessly, Mike Lane made a superb stab of a hard liner by Steve Surette to end the fifth and other standouts were third baseman Chris Concemi and leftfielder Kurt Burzlaff with a fine running catch to flag down a long drive near the foul line.

Andover Blue righthander Jeff Smith was also effective, experiencing just one bad inning as Gold pushed across four runs in the top of the third.

Smith fanned six and walked four in a complete-game effort.

Blue had two men aboard in the first after consecutive two-out singles by Glenn Allard and Cam Deery, but Colsia handled Smith's sharp grounder to short for the third out.

Peter Barry looped a leadoff single to leftfield in the second, then stole second and moved to third on Dave Curtis' infield out. Burzlaff then chased down Tom Tormey's long flyball to left to end the inning.

A one-out walk to Scott Wallace started the AG rally in the third. Rick Lafond reached on an error, Concemi walked to load the bases and Colsia followed with a crisp two-run single to centerfield.

Aiello helped his own cause with an RBI single and Colsia alertly came across on the throw to second base as Aiello advanced after the throw home. A leadoff single by Brian Gibson and a two-out intentional walk to Deery gave Blue a pair of baserunners in the third, but Nelson hauled down Smith's drive to rightfield and that was the final serious threat against Aiello who surrendered just two singles the rest of the way.

Gold added its final run in the sixth when Lane singled and eventually scored on a passed ball.

Singles by Earl Abdo, Tom Murray and a walk to Chris Nelson loaded the bases in the same stanza, but Smith worked free of the jam on a popup to second baseman Tormey.

Colsia and Abdo both went 2-for-4 to spark Gold while Gibson finished the contest 2-for-4 for Blue.

Andover Gold 4-3

One week earlier Gold had rallied to edge North Andover 5-4 on Rick Lafond's two-out, two-run double in the bottom of the seventh and this game produced similar dramatics at the Phillips Academy field.

A lightning bolt generates temperatures five times hotter than the 6000° found at the surface of the sun.

Righthander Chris Colsia lifted his record to 4-1 overall by pitching the eight-inning distance, allowing seven hits, walking just one and striking out five.

Andover Gold clawed back from 1-0 and 3-2 deficits to earn the triumph, lacing nine hits against North Andover pitchers Jeff Rembis, P.J. McCabe and Bob Rennie.

Colsia escaped a first-inning jam, a one-out single by Matt Strobel and an outfield error placing runners at second and third, by rearing back and striking out the next two hitters.

North Andover inched ahead 1-0 in the top of the third, however, following a walk and singles by Strobel and Rozzi (RBI).

Gold retaliated with two runs in the bottom of the third. Kurt Burzlaff singled, was bunted to second by Glenn Farnham and crossed on Lafond's basehit. Lafond then stole second and crossed on a two-out single by Colsia. North Andover regained a 3-2 lead with a pair of unearned runs in the fourth, but Lafond prevented further damage with a perfect throw from centerfield to cut down a baserunner trying to score on Rozzi's second single of the game.

Colsia then faced the minimum 12 batters over the final four innings. The lone runner in that span reached on a two-base throwing error to open the seventh, but rightfielder Chris Nelson erased him after catching a medium-deep flyball by Strobel. The runner tagged and tried to advance, but Nelson gunned a perfect one-hop throw to third baseman Chris Concemi to complete the double play.

Gold tied it 3-3 in the bottom of the seventh, doing the damage after the first two batters were retired on outfield flies.

Walks to Larry Aiello and Earl Abdo kept things alive, setting the stage for Mike Lane who dropped a clutch RBI single in centerfield.

Another walk to 13-year-old Andy Shea loaded the bases, but McCabe sent the contest into extra innings by fanning the next batter.

Colsia retired North Andover 1-2-3 in the top of the eighth, following a brief rain delay, and Gold then won it in the home half.

Nelson drew a leadoff walk, Lafond walked and everyone was safe when Concemi's sacrifice bunt was unplayable to load the bases. Nelson was forced at the plate on Colsia's grounder to short, setting the stage for a perfectly-disguised and executed sacrifice bunt by Aiello to rescue Lafond with the winning run.

Eight AG players contributed hits, Nelson going 2-for-2 and reaching base three straight times.

Shea lashed a single and played a strong defensive game at second base (four chances) while Colsia was active on the mound as he handled seven chances (three putouts, four assists) flawlessly.

Orchids

successful hybrid is that the grower has the honor of dreaming up a name for it. Hybrid names are almost as colorful as the flowers themselves: Grape Sherbet, Midnight Miracles, Paleface Star, Tapestry, Waxed Silk, Barn Owl, Running Bear.

Marcia and Martin were delighted when the first cross they attempted was successful. They created Vicki Jean, a phalaenopsis named for their youngest daughter, by breeding a white orchid called Malibu Destiny with a striped orchid called Layla Beard. The result, registered with the Royal Horticulture Society in 1980, is a white orchid with faint, delicate stripes.

"We were the first to use Malibu Destiny in a cross," Martin notes. They brought that flower home from the famed Arthur Freed Orchids of Malibu, California, shortly before a canyon fire destroyed the huge greenhouses there in 1978.

The Epsteins never travel anywhere without stopping at a local greenhouse, Marcia says, and "we always bring home something in our pockets." They recently collected several species during a trip to the Dominican Republic.

Customers come to them for orchids for special occasions like Mother's Day and birthdays, or just "feeling blue" days when they need a little cheering up, Martin says.

Some first met the couple at a craft fair, and some come because they've seen Eden's Orchids decorating the Country Gourmet shop on Essex Street. The Epsteins send customers home with instruction sheets, a bit of fertilizer, lots of encouragement — and their telephone number for "emergency" calls.

Prices range from $5 to $100; a seedling about to come into bloom may cost $15, while a phalaenopsis in bloom may sell for $15 to $30. Once they bloom, some orchids such as phalaenopsis — may remain in bloom ten months of the year, Martin says.

For would-be orchid-growers who're thinking of plunging into orchid mania, the Epsteins highly recommend joining the American Orchid Society and the Massachusetts Orchid Society, both good sources of information with regular publications, and an easy way to meet fellow orchid-lovers as well.

Orchids can grow quite happily in an ordinary home and certainly don't need a greenhouse, the Epsteins say, but somehow orchids seem to pull addicted growers in that direction.

Building their Andover greenhouse turned out to be an ambitious project. First, they needed the town Conservation Commission's consent to build it, because their yard is located close to a wetlands area.

With that hurdle cleared, Jim Bateson of Andover had to blast enormous amounts of rock out of the Epstein's yard before he could build a foundation for their greenhouse. Work began in January 1982, "and it was cold," Marcia recalls. "The men would work for 15 minutes, then they'd come in and warm up by the woodstove for a while."

A pre-fabricated greenhouse was finally erected over the foundation, and on a "bit-ter cold" February day the Epsteins' orchids were rushed from a Weston nursery (where they'd been in storage) into a rather chilly van, and then into their new home. "I don't think we lost any," Marcia marvels.

And now that those well-traveled and well-loved plants are flourishing within their glass walls, and Eden's Orchids is flourishing, too. "We just need a bigger greenhouse," Marcia Epstein says. She's only half kidding.

School Bus Race

The 1984 New England Street Stock Challenge championship race and the first-ever School Bus Race highlight this Sunday night's 15-race program at the Hudson Speedway, Hudson, N.H.

Ways To Beat Cooling Costs

Clean or replace air conditioning filters at least once a month—when the filter is dirty, the fan has to run longer to move the same amount of air and this uses more electricity.

Run dishwashers, laundry machines and other energy-consuming appliances in the early morning and late evening when power loads are lighter, as you may pay more for electricity when utilities have to operate at full demand. Avoid cooking and turning on lights during the middle of the day—both generate heat.

Draw draperies, blinds and shades to keep out hot sun. In homes without air conditioners, close windows and draw blinds during the day, open windows at night.

He who has begun his task has half done it.

and reassuring me that all would be well. In another 20 minutes the detective had arrived and was dusting for fingerprints and showing us how the process worked. In all, I was so amazed by the number of professionals working on our case and interested in watching them that I never got that dreadful feeling one has knowing some stranger has been pawing through his belongings, selecting those worth stealing from those that are not. The police continued to be of help, keeping extra watch on the house and coming out within minutes to photograph a footprint found in the living room.

Each officer who came to the house seemed eager, not only to do his task, but to teach us all he could about crime and criminals and each was so extraordinarily helpful that I could not help but share it with the rest of the town who, hopefully, will not deal with these departments on a first-hand basis.

Extended Day Care To Be Featured At The New Shawsheen

Life will be a bit easier for the working parents of Andover's public school kindergarten students who may sign their youngsters up for a new extended day care program at the Shawsheen School beginning this fall.

Designed for children aged three to seven, who are in half-day classes at the renovated school off Ann's Lane, the program will use space in the basement of the school, which was expected to be unused in the design of the Early Childhood Center. If a child is enrolled in the morning two and one half hour kindergarten session he or she will be able to spend the afternoon hours in the extended care center until picked up by a parent. Conversely, children in the afternoon school sessions could spend morning time in extended care.

The program, run by the town Department of Community Services (DCS), is designed to be a self-supporting non-profit corporation and therefore the only formal approval DCS needed from town officials was permission from the School Committee for use of the school building. The school board unanimously granted DCS permission to use the two rooms in the Shawsheen School at their Tuesday evening meeting. But board Chairman Donald W. Robb said that if the school department needs that space in the Shawsheen School next year the DCS program would have to go, a fact DCS Director Joan B. Pearson said she realized.

The board also told Pearson they wanted to make sure the Andover residents understand the extended care program is not run by the school department. Youngsters in the extended-care program will not be allowed to use school transportation, said Pearson, who added that from the start DCS staffers and planners of the program have worked hard at separating the extended care program from the school kindergarten program.

This is not going to be a kindergarten program," Pearson explained to the board on Tuesday. "It's an enrichment program. It's not school. We want it to be a different from being at school as possible."

The money collected from parents who enroll their children in the extended care program will pay the salaries and expenses of the program, which organizers Pearson and Linnea Gershenberg, director of the Early Childhood Center at the Shawsheen School, estimated will run around $41,000 for the first year of the program. Gershenberg said those children not enrolled full-time will pay by the hour for time spent in extended care.

The program will operate for the 38 week school calendar. Parents will pay anywhere from $35 to $50 a week to enroll a child full-time in extended care. Pearson said the costs of the program will be set and available at the DCS office sometime next week. The center will be open from 7:15 a.m. to 5:45 p.m.

Children may be signed up for the program at a registration session, only for those entering the kindergarten and readiness classes at Shawsheen this fall, on Thursday, July 26, at 7 p.m., in the Senior Citizen's Center, off Whittier Street.

The DCS program will pay part of the cost of running the school too. Pearson's plan for the program shows an approximate contribution of between $5,000 and $8,000 in the first year of the program and between $7,000 and $10,000 in the second and third years.

Speaker

Rev. Gerald Wilson, secretary of the Southeastern District of the Assemblies of God, will speak to the Greater Lowell Christian Center at 10 a.m. Sunday, July 15, at the Dracut Middle School, 1560 Lakeview Avenue. A 6 p.m. The film, "Han," will be shown. The film follows the life story of a young Thai man and was filmed on location in Thailand.

Castle Hill Festival

The lyric beauty and dramatic force of Mozart's Il re pastore and Così fan tutte underscore the special significance of the operatic events at Castle Hill in Ipswich this summer. The July and August performances initiate a seven-year cycle of Mozart operas planned for the annual performing arts Festival. This ambitious programming lends further credence to a London critic's prediction that Castle Hill could become the American Glyndebourne.

The concert version of Il re pastore, led by Festival Music Director Craig Smith, is staged in the Concert Barn on July 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. Lauded as an extraordinary lyric accomplishment for the 19 year-old composer, the two-act opera features Frank Hoffmeister (Alexander the Great), Jane Bryden (Aminta), Beverly Hoch (Elisha), Lorraine Hunt (Tamiri), and Wayne Rivera (Agemore).

The fully-staged outdoor production of Così fan tutte opens August 1 with additional performances on August 3, 5, 9, and 11 at 8:30 p.m.

The festival gates open 2½ hours prior to the performances for picnicking on the grounds of the 165-acre estate. Opera tickets may be ordered through Castle Hill Festival, Box Office, P.O. Box 283, Ipswich, MA 01938.

4000S FOUR-DOOR SPORTS SEDAN

$13,240

4000S QUATTRO SPORTS SEDAN

$16,830

When you consider how well equipped each Audi 4000S is, it's quite an engineering feat that they are so affordable.

The two 4000S sports sedans, for example, are aerodynamically sleek, feature front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, advanced fuel injected 4-cylinder engines, air conditioning, cruise control and the sort of comforting ergonomic interiors you expect in German luxury sport sedans. The surprise is, the engineering and luxury is not optional.

But the biggest surprise is the 4000S Quattro. It's the car that history will record as pivotal in the evolution of the passenger car. The German engineers at Audi combined permanent all-wheel drive with independent four-wheel suspension and four-wheel disc brakes to bring the driver a keener sensation of handling, cornering and stopping performance. And the interior appointments make it possible for passengers to enjoy this new driving experience as much as the driver.

The Audi sports sedans are worth a closer look. And even better than a look, a test drive. After you've experienced Audi's amazing engineering feats for yourself, we think you'll agree, the prices are sheer genius. 24 Month Unlimited Mileage Warranty

Developed By Council

Hunting for that special spot for a river-front picnic in Andover? Want to canoe the Merrimack River in New Hampshire as well as Massachusetts and catch a few fish along the way? How about exploring its tributary rivers or finding which marinas have gas docks. The new Merrimack River Watershed Council map of the Merrimack River in Massachusetts and New Hampshire can answer these questions and more.

This resource map has been developed over many years. The early stages were facilitated by U.S. Representative Nick Mavroulis who contacted the National Park Service for help in gathering data. Watershed Council Greenway Coordinator Greg Smith has carefully compiled river information in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

In 1983 Executive Director Rosalind G. Tufts decided that it was time to answer the public's demand for information. She asked the Bank of Boston-Essex for seed money for the production of a river map. They agreed to help and suggested that the Lawrence-Eagle Tribune and The Lowell Sun join the project. Both responded positively, demonstrating the wide support for this Merrimack Valley project.

When Tufts contacted Cartouche, a Newburyport design company, she found another enthusiastic response. President Joan Wilking wanted the challenge of designing a map.

The map is printed on both sides of water resistant paper. One side is called "Along the Merrimack." The legend includes historic attractions, campgrounds, golf courses and riverfront parks, birdwatching areas and river excursions. The other side, "On the Merrimack," covers sailing, fishing and power boating areas, ramps, canoe access points, marinas, boat clubs, gas docks, rocks, rapids, bridges—everything the public asked about boating and fishing on the Merrimack River.

Designed for the outdoors person, the map is folded to slip into a pack or jacket pocket.

Merrimack River maps can be ordered from the MRWC office in Massachusetts or in New Hampshire. The maps will also be available in selected bookstores and sporting goods stores throughout the valley.

A seven-page companion text describing the Merrimack River from Franklin to the sea may also be ordered from the Watershed Council office.

Pets And Vacations

Pet owners making vacation plans can obtain three helpful publications to assist them in obtaining proper care for the family pet, advises the Gaines Dog Care Center.

If the family wants to take a pet along on a motor trip, but isn't sure about accommodations, the all-new 1983-84 edition of "Touring With Towser" should also go along in the glove compartment.

The booklet can be obtained by sending a check for $1.00 to American Boarding Kennels Association, 311 N. Union, Colorado Springs, Co. 80809.

Designed for adults in occupations from teaching to business, the Summer Institute offers one-week, four-week and six-week courses. The curriculum includes information on choosing and using hardware, making productive use of today's popular software packages and programming computers.

Daily lectures are augmented by guest seminars, but the focus of the program is the well-equipped lab area: more than 100 machines, including IBM, Apple, Radio Shack and more. These labs are open 19 hours a day, seven days a week, with individual tutoring available during all lab hours. For further information or a brochure, contact Cynthia W. Harman, director, 57 South St., Portsmouth, N.H. 03801.

Barron's Country Store — Great Lunches And More!

Barron's Country Store, 429 Lowell St., Andover, with its friendly and "old fashioned country store" atmosphere, is much more than just a great lunch stop or a gas station or a convenience store or a post office or a beer and wine store. It's all these and more.

As a great lunch stop, Barron's has delicious homemade lunches and sandwiches. Try their bar-b-que roast beef, Italian sausage with peppers and onions, meatball subs, cold subs or their scrumptious homemade soup with clam chowder every Friday. Then take your lunch to the picnic table in back and enjoy the beautiful summer day. Or take it in your picnic basket for a summer outing.

In the morning, stop in Barron's on your way to Route 495 for hot coffee and a fresh donut to go. Every morning Barron's has a variety of donuts. They also have such items as Greek spinach pies, authentic English pork pies and cheesecakes from the Newburyport Cheesecake Company for lunch or any time.

With everything from soup to nuts, Barron's carries what you need. They have health and beauty aids, grocery products, frozen foods, cigarettes, all local and Boston papers and a wide selection of domestic and imported beers and wines.

For over 54 years Barron's Country Store has been supplying its customers with plenty of old-time goodness. Family-run by the Barron family, Chuck, who is the third generation to run the store, his wife, Shirley, son Douglas and daughter Brenda all put time into the store when they can.

The Barrons pride themselves on carrying on the country tradition that combines old-time friendliness with convenience for their customers.

Stop by Barron's Country Store soon. Open every day, Monday-Saturday, 6 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Sundays 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tel. 475-2896.

Give yourself more time to enjoy the summer with an easy-to-care-for hairstyle from Hilda's Hair Stylist. Shawsheen Plaza Andover. For both men's and women's hairstyling, Hilda's offers professional and experienced service.

A hairstyle is only as good as the basic cut and the hair care professionals at Hilda's specialize in blow cuts. They are trained in all the latest techniques and work particularly well with children.

When summer's heat makes you wilt or a day at the beach has left you ragged, you need a hair cut that gives you a great look even on the run. A comfortable, easy-to-manage style is a must if you want to look your best.

A perm can give your hair the body it needs to hold the styles popular today. And a perm can make hair care a breeze. A soft perm given by Hilda's experienced staff will give you soft, natural looking style with just the right amount of wave. Or why not try a body wave, just the thing for lots of body and quick easy styling so necessary during the summer.

Hilda's staff specializes in permanents as well as hair coloring, body waves and haircutting.

Whether you'd like to wash the grey out of your hair or would just like to try a beautiful new

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — July 1909

Chief of Police Mears has had a telephone installed in his home on Bartlet street.

The Andover Natural History Society will hold a field meeting Saturday afternoon, at Haggett's Pond. A barge will leave the square at 1:30 p.m. for B.F. Smith's camp. A short tramp to Fish Brook and a visit to the Indian earthworks is the program for the day.

Two young men from North Andover, who were arrested in Ballardvale, Monday, by Officer Shattuck, for stealing a boat, and who were held on the suspicion that they set the ice-house fire were acquitted by Trial Justice Stone Tuesday evening.

The new law governing the use of the highways by motor vehicles makes many radical changes. It puts the entire control under the state, and its main features are as follows: Automobiles of more than ten horse power must have two brakes. Every automobile must be provided with a muffler to prevent unnecessary noise; also a signalling device, with a brake that can be set; and a contrivance to prevent vehicles from being set in motion by unauthorized persons. Every possible precaution shall be taken to prevent frightening of horses.

50 Years Ago — July 1934

The camp which for 14 years has operated on the hillsides and shores of Pumps pond and known to hundreds of city boys and girls from Boston and vicinity as Camp Andover, is being moved to Lake Winnisquam. The cabins have been taken up there by A.L. Reed, the wrecker, and the big dininghall will be torn down. The reason for the change is cited as the wish for more quiet surroundings.

The old "Alms house" in Shawsheen Village is being remodelled by the Textile Realty Co. into eight three and four room apartments which will add considerably to the housing accommodations in the village and be rented at a reasonable price. The building which has been the home of the Snow Sanitarium for the past six or seven years is in fine condition to remodel and an attractive set of apartments is being planned by the builders. The building is built of brick, has exits on Argyle and Arundel streets and has little need of repairs on the outside.

Work is now underway on the razing of the Old Punchard school building. A skeleton crew with several Andover men are at work tearing out the inside of the building. The Board of Public Works is taking a small section of sod from the grounds to use on the football field where a section of the grass was destroyed by the Fourth of July bonfire.

25 Years Ago — July 1959

John Philip Enterprises has received permission to level off two lots at the Wild Rose Farm, to make it easier to install a 36-inch drainage pipe. John Keaney, speaking for the firm, explained that the lots won't actually be built on this year. But he said the leveling must be done sometime — and by doing it now, the firm could realize a saving. The Selectmen agreed that the lots could be levelled and the gravel sold, subject to terms of an agreement that would be prepared by Town Manager Thomas Duff.

Ancient Sunday blue-laws left the Selectmen somewhat aghast Monday night, as Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien Jr. read through some of the restrictions placed on businesses on The Lord's Day. After considering some of the restrictions against sales through retail outlets the Board voted to approve a requested common victualler's license for weekdays and Sundays to Samuel Bickoff of Methuen. He plans to open a delicatessen on Main st., near Punchard ave.

The School Department has filed its application for $7,000 in matching federal funds, which will be used to purchase and install laboratory facilities at the Junior High. Under the National Defense Education Act, the town is eligible for the amount, which is equal to the town's contribution.

10 Years Ago — July 1974

Edward P. Regan, who officially lost his title as assistant superintendent of schools Monday, said this week he will accept nothing from the school committee "less than what I had." Regan was demoted by the committee in April, but Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert was expected to ask them last night for a temporary, three-month assignment for his former assistant. Regan, who still holds tenure as a principal, said he would accept "no project — no lesser position" than that of assistant superintendent.

Elander and Swanton, an Andover clothing store dating back to 1916, came under new management this week when Albert Chadwick of Simsbury, Conn., assumed ownership from William A. Long. Chadwick, a graduate of the University of Bridgeport and in the sales field for over 20 years, began operation of the downtown Andover store on Monday. Mr. Long, who has been the owner since 1967, will remain at the store for a brief time before moving to Wolfeboro, N.H.

Anthony E. Mangifesti, Andover's popular food services director for the public schools, is leaving for an advancement opportunity at the Lowell Regional Vocational School which opens in September. For the man who guided the school lunch program and this past year introduced the lunch program for senior citizens, it is a case of coming up with the perfect recipe. He loves food and loves teaching. When the opportunity came to blend the two ingredients, Mangifesti had to make the difficult decision. At Lowell, he will be in charge of the food service program as well as heading up the teaching program in culinary arts.

Beloit

Melinda Theresa Hobausz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Hobausz, 2 Stonehedge Road, Andover, was graduated from Beloit College this past May. She received a Bachelor of Arts in German and international relations, with dean's list and departmental honors.

Beloit College is a coeducational liberal arts college. Chartered in 1846, it is Wisconsin's oldest college in continuous service. More than 1,000 students from 42 states and 28 foreign countries study at Beloit. The college is located 100 miles northwest of Chicago and 50 miles south of Madison, Wis.

Real Estate

by DOUGLAS N. HOWE

REALTOR

IMPROVING YOUR PROPERTY

There are two ways to increase the value of real estate. One (the easiest) is to watch it go up in value along with inflation. The other is to improve it so that value increases more than the cost of improvements.

Investors looking for ways to extract more profit from small scale
real estate investments should seriously consider prospecting for "diamonds in the rough".
Older homes in solid neighborhoods may be priced below the market
because of their condition (or because most buyers fail to recognize their potential). On a dollar for dollar basis, nothing comes close to rehab. In the area of multiplying resale profits - provided the improvements have been well thought out and costs carefully controlled

On many occasions, a couple of thousand dollars improving the right home in the right neighborhood have shown over $10,000 worth of increase immediately. On top of that, there are now great tax credits for improving older investment homes. However, never OVERIMPROVE a house so it will be priced out of its comparable market price.

If there is anything
we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE
AGENCY, 5 Pynchard
Ave., Andover. Phone:
475-5100. We're here to help.

Schoolman Criticizes DCS User Fee Policy

A town policy to charge for the use of the town's school buildings after school hours came under fire Tuesday evening as School Committee member Richard W. Neal criticized the Department of Community Services' user fee schedule.

Neal said he had received calls about Girl Scout and Brownie troops who were charged for use of school classrooms after school. He said the troops meet directly after school, when, in many cases, the school buildings were still in use by students.

Defending her department's policies, Joan B. Pearson, director of the Department of Community Services (DCS), said that a restructuring of the DCS user fee schedule had levied user fees on the Girl and Boy Scout troops for the first time this year. Troops are charged $2 a meeting for the use of school rooms, she said.

"Scout troops were the last to be included in the (fee) process," she said. "The (sports) leagues were all paying and it was brought to our attention that the scouts weren't. So it stood to reason that scouts be included when we did a fee revision this year. It was just to bring them into line with everyone else."

A page one article in the Thursday, June 28 issue of THE TOWNSMAN detailed the town's schedule of user fees, which, in combination with fines and building fees annually net the town over $800,000. The classroom user fee, charged to Andover-based groups, is among the lowest user fee DCS charges. Use of a school auditorium or gymnasium for a fundraiser by an out of town profit-making group may run as high as $400.

Finance Committee Chairman Ruth Dunbar rose to Pearson's aid at Tuesday's School Committee meeting telling the board that it was difficult to differentiate between groups that met directly after school, from 3 to 4 p.m., and those meeting from 4 to 5 p.m. Dunbar said she had to give Pearson "a high score" for being fair about the user fee. Also defending Pearson was school board member Susan T. Poore who said Pearson had been "monumentally diplomatic." Pearson told Neal that she received her mandate for charging fees from the Finance Committee and the Board of Selectmen, suggesting he contact members of both groups about the fees.

One possible way to exempt the scout troops from the user fees they are now charged may be to affiliate them with schools, suggested Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert. School groups such as Parent

Teacher Organizations (PTO's) are not charged for their use of school rooms. Seifert said he thought the Massachusetts General Laws provided for free use of public schools by both Girl and Boy Scout troops. But a staff member in Secretary of State Michael Connelly's office told THE TOWNSMAN that it was usual for towns and cities to charge user fees for non-profit groups and could find no such law exempting fees for scout troops. Seifert told the committee he would research the laws, promising to do so he added "scout's honor," with a smile.
